WE USE POWERUPS IS BORN

We are a very small team of passionate indie developers devoted to bring players new and awesome experiences. Built from talented professionals coming from the videogame industry, technology investigation and cinema special effects.

Back when videogames were starting and getting people to play them, getting a POWER UP gave the players the power to overcome any challenge the game threw at them. They changed the way a game was interpreted or even change the look and structure of itself.

With WE USE POWERUPS we want to create those old awesome experiences transformed by nowadays standards. We want to create challenges for ourselves and overcome them the way games did back then... with style!

We believe in our creative freedom. We want to be able to shape our games the way we want and our Virtual Team structure allows us to look for talent all over the world. The talented team at WE USE POWERUPS is able to work as a team without a fixed hierarchy where everyone is a leader without a boss.
